“It is exciting to be in this community to educate children who learn how to learn while they learn how to dance,” said Lisa Coleman, Franchisee of Kinderdance® of the Columbus area “For young children, movement, music and dance are natural tools for fitness, learning and communicating while expressing their feelings.”

Kinderdance® with over 150 Franchisees in the US and around the world places emphasis on building self-confidence and self-esteem in children through learning to share, lead, interact and respond to others needs as well as their own.
